It's the 1940s and Americans are doing all they can to help the war effort, especially keeping a sharp eye out for spies! What better place for a spy to lurk than a radio station. Never mind that everyone at the studio works on a melodramatic soap opera ! But with the seed of doubt planted, it seems as if everyone at the station looks highly suspicious, But one spy plot gets mixed up with another when two sisters get jobs to find out a little inside company information. Overheard rumors, mixed-up scripts, and leaked "secret information" combine with romance and laughter to make you stay tuned for a play that's a salute to the glorious "daze" of radio!
